

Thesis Bachelor / Master

Our madebymade GmbH is growing and we are looking for clever minds to work with us on sustainable solutions for the future.

Who we are:

At madebymade, we supply high quality insect proteins and lipids for the production of animal feed. Through the use of sustainable insect protein, we protect biodiversity and reduce the emission of greenhouse gases. In short: regional insect protein instead of fishmeal and soy imports.

Our modular plant is up and running. The next step is to scale up to an industrial plant. For this growth we are looking for committed people who want to break new ground and work with us on an extraordinary business idea.

Who we are looking for:

You would like to write your thesis in an environmentally conscious, dynamic and sustainable company? and perhaps already have some initial topic ideas in mind? We at madebymade are always working to better understand the processes of insect breeding, to open up new markets for our products, and to have a comprehensive overview of the current state of research. For these and other projects we are interested in motivated, committed and responsible people who want to accompany us on our journey and even further.

Contact us with your idea if you think it is interesting for madebymade. After receiving your idea we will check if the topic is relevant for us and if we can supervise your thesis. Of course, there is also the possibility that we work with you on a topic that is particularly exciting for us and for you.

Do we suit you?

- Are you a good mix of creative mind and structured head?
We know how you can combine both talents in one job.
- Do you want to get involved in the young and innovative field of insect biotechnology?
We offer you the chance to become an expert in a forward-looking business field.
- You are not 100% sure yet, where your journey will take you?
We support you from first day onward until your last day here.
- You like to work flexibly and enjoy both city and country air?
We offer you a varied working environment, close to the city but still in nature.

We are looking forward to your application to bewerbung@madebymade.eu.
